Innovative and attractive.

Trusts originated in English common law and have increasingly gained importance beyond the Anglo-Saxon world in recent decades. Liechtenstein already introduced trusts in 1926. Such farsightedness makes the Liechtenstein financial centre innovative and attractive.

We are open to other approaches and systems. Thanks to many years of experience in trusts, you will find us to be competent and reliable specialists for the establishment and management of domestic and foreign trust structures.

When more is offered than expected - that's finesse.

The Principality of Liechtenstein is an outward-looking, autonomous, and neutral state in the heart of Europe, thriving on a unique combination of monarchy and democracy. The fourth-smallest country in Europe has been closely linked to Switzerland through an economic and customs treaty since 1924 and enjoys the stability of the Swiss franc as its national currency. Liechtenstein is an independent member of the Council of Europe, the United Nations, the European Economic Area (EEA), and the World Trade Organisation (WTO).

Power lies in quality.
